

SAMBHALI INDIA

Sambhali Boutique is an outlet for women from the underprivileged communities in Jodhpur, who have been trained through Sambhali Trust, selling garments and accessories, including Indian salwaars, kurtas, block-printed scarves and curtains, cushion-covers, wash-bags and table linen. Sambhali Trust is a small grassroots NGO in Jodhpur, which runs a women's empowerment pro-gramme and has trained these girls for 2 years in Basic English, Hindi and a variety of sewing techniques.

In August 2009, 11 girls graduated from the Trust and now work in 2 small sewing centres in Jodhpur, where they are gradually establishing themselves and making clothes for their local community as well as selling items through the Sambhali Boutique. They are open to receiving orders from abroad and have already worked with a French designer making children's clothes.
